

Social Media Planner

About us

The Progress Film Company was founded by filmmakers, for filmmakers. Brought together by our passion for making breathtaking content and independent films, our award winning studio by the sea is making waves. Our unique company model and amazing variety of clients means that each project feeds the next, allowing us to think big and, most importantly, make films we love.

To learn more about us and the way we work, visit progressfilm.co.uk and follow us via @ProgressFilmCo

What we need from you

At Progress, we've got a lot to share. Our content speaks for itself but we need you to shout about us. Constantly on Twitter, Instagram and Facebook, you know exactly what's trending and what particular 'Day' it is at any given time. Your enthusiasm for the company and our clients will be infectious, as you source the best possible avenues to promote the work our creatives are making and support our production team in developing the Progress brand and that of our clients.

You'll share your understanding of social media at development level, ensuring every film we make has a innovative online campaign ready to go. You'll be the first to experiment with new technologies, using daring spirit and technical competence to find breakthrough ways to reach bigger audiences.

You're obsessed with social media to the point of being anti social. Your passion for the company will be impossible to contain.

We're looking at all experience levels. If you think we need your talent and ambition in our Brighton studio, send us your details to tell us why.

Must haves

- Painfully meticulous attention to detail
- Brilliant communication skills - excellent literacy and numeracy are a must

- An infectious and collaborative positive attitude - whether you're leading or supporting a project
- Willingness to chip in and help the company in any way possible
- Inventive and efficient research skills
- The dogged determination to go above and beyond
- Pride in your work that you can't wait to share

We give you

- A super talented team of creatives
- A lively studio in the heart of Brighton
- A varied and exciting client base
- Opportunity to pitch on work for incredible brands

Salary

Remuneration based on experience.

How to apply

If this sounds like you, visit progressfilmco.uk and follow via @ProgressFimCo to find out more about us, before sending us your showreel and a explanation of why we need you as part of our team

Please send CVs and cover letters to hello@progressfilm.co.uk